ARGENTINES AND ORIENTALS.

All the representatives of the Montevidean press crossed the River Plate to attend the funeral of the late Dr. Juan Carlos Gomez. The fact is worthy of notice, since it is an anomaly in the well-known character of the Orientals, who are the most susceptible people in South America. None are more convinced of the greatness of their country, few are so jealous of their nationality. There are few things more hateful to the Oriental than the preposterous idea—that idle conception of great minds—of the abdication of their sovereignty as a nation for the sake of becoming an Argentine province. These considerations shew the anomaly of the presence of the Montevidean editors at the funeral of Mr. Gomez, the great apostle of union of Orientals with Argentines—a chimera which he cherished all his life and was the principal cause of the political oblivion into which he fell.

There is evidently some great contradiction somewhere, but General Sarmiento took upon himself the responsibility of explaining this anomaly in the following words, spoken over the grave of Mr. Gomez:—

"With regard to Gomez's fond dream of re-establishing the ancient, natural and necessary union of both banks of the Plate, look around this modest sepulchre and ask every leading character, every editor, every literary man, on which side of the Plate he was born; and here in this moment, around this grave, he will confess that if politics and history are discarded, the dream is attractive and is heartily endorsed by patriots on both sides of the river."

Nothing could be more conclusive than the above lines, and the old man meant much more than he said. He points to the fact of Argentines and Orientals surrounding the grave of the apostle of the Union—a fact quite sufficient to warrant the subsequent deductions that both nations endorse the idea. But all this is a dream at the best, and this expansion of the moment is melodious talk.

The anomaly of the situation is that none of the Orientals who attended the funeral believe in the union of both countries; and so best. They admired everything in Gomez except his delusive dream of union. There is too much common sense in the men who are at the head of affairs in the Argentine Republic to entertain any ridiculous plans of "haute politique" under present circumstances, when the efforts of all converge towards consolidating the federal congregation of the republic; and the Government of the Banda Oriental has too keen a sense of perception to attach any importance to the mustering of the Oriental press in the Recoleta or to the speeches made on the melancholy occasion. Argentine statesmen have been blamed before for entertaining ideas of reconstructing the old Vice-royalty of the River Plate, and some have even considered the matter as one of a most serious nature; but those who know the Banda Oriental and this country will see the folly of this premature ambition. As years roll on we see more keenly the necessity of linking together the provinces of this republic, and we watch the steady national growth of the Banda Oriental. Orientals have great reason to be proud of their nationality; they have stood their ground between two powerful neighbors, and they can point to a material prosperity that both may envy. The 600,000 inhabitants of the Banda Oriental export yearly produce to the value of thirty million patacons; they have eleven million head of cattle; the revenue of the Government is increasing, and the advance of the country is rapid. The progress of the Banda Oriental is the bright reflection of the prosperity of the Argentine Republic, and it would be a pity indeed that political speeches and individual dreams of aggrandizement should sow the seed of distrust at a time when mutual esteem and confidence form the special features of the relations between both countries. None can cast the horoscope of the future; the Argentine Republic has, no doubt, a wonderful assimilating power, and every year its influence is increasing in force; that this expansion may stretch over the present frontiers none can determine, but the present status of politics in the River Plate allows of no such anticipations for the moment. One thing is certain and conclusive, and that is that the present Argentine policy is stripped of all dreams of encroachment or aggression, and the common sense of this people is too great to countenance follies that may be cherished by the idle fancies of ambitious minds.

THE BOCA FOR EVER.

At foot we publish the second and most important chapter of Mr Huergo's Report to the Committee of the Riachuelo Port Works. Let every man study the figures of the growth of tonnage in the Riachuelo; it is simply incredible to witness the disproportionate figures of one year with another. Over 47,000 vessels entered and left the Boca last year with a tonnage of over 1,000,000, against 18,000 vessels in 1877 with 284,505 tons. This advance eclipses everything in the way of port progress. No other port in the world can show such staggering figures of advance in six years. Six thousand ocean vessels with 250,000 tons entered in 1883 against 2000 in 1879 with 55,000 tons. Such figures speak for themselves. The Boca is going ahead, and when the present works are finished, we may expect a further growth in the tonnage and number of vessels, which will finally convince all that the Riachuelo is the port of Buenos Ayres:—

STATE OF THE WORKS.

Excavations.

The total volume dredged and excavated, in cubic metres, was 4,446,155, divided as follows:—

	Cubic Metre.
Dredge Progreso	657,350
,, Riachuelo	2,277,250
,, Lezeppe	295,455
,, Emilio Castro	887,270
Excavations by hand	328,850
Total	4,446,155

The following table shows the work done by the dredges during late years:—

Year.	Total Cubic Metres.
1876	31,695
1877	250,650
1878	313,560
1879	361,885
1880	311,385
1881	476,510
1882	787,690
1883	1,554,020
Total	4,147,395

The principal object of the present works is to make a channel having a sufficient depth for ocean vessels to enter; and the above table gives a clear idea of the comparatively slow progress of the works, the volume dredged during the year 1883 exceeding the total of the first five years.

Traffic.

The following figures show the steady growth of traffic which follows in the wake of the extension of the works:—

Year.	Number of Vessels, Arrivals and Departures.	Tons Register.
1877	18,167	284,505
1878	25,637	395,213
1879	21,576	577,994
1880	23,042	644,574
1881	32,886	827,072
1882	42,690	995,597
1883	47,300	1,207,321

The ocean traffic has been as follows:—

Year.	Number of Vessels.	Tons Register.
1879	197	55,091
1880	261	69,917
1881	420	130,385
1882	457	166,604
1883	601	249,574

The English vessel Violet was the largest one that entered, drawing 19½ English feet.

Cost of the works carried out.

The definite budget of expenses for the Riachuelo Improvement Works furnished the 20th of April 1882, not including the cost of the dredges, amounted to $8,977,760, of which, according to table 2, presented by the Secretary, the sum of $2,600,736.84 nat. dollars or $2,516,837.06 fuertes, was expended up to the 1st Jan. 1884.

The two heaviest items were for the dredges, and the loading and discharging wharves, the former amounting to $1,239,413.30 and the latter to $458,604.45.

The average cost of dredging was $0.30 per cubic metre; the tenders in 1875 were $0.80; in 1878 $0.44 and in 1883 $0.32.

The cost of the wharf per lineal metre was $1,131.88; the tenders in 1878 being $1,144.00 and in 1882 $1,132.00.

I give these two items, because some objections have been raised to my tenders at present before Congress, owing to the very low figures I have set down, many being of opinion I cannot carry out the works without greatly exceeding these figures.

Practical experience acquired shows the cost of the works, and the cost will not exceed my tenders.

Works to be finished.

During the present year all the works which are laid down in the project for the Improvement of the Riachuelo will be concluded; that is—wharves, smooth paving, cranes and rough pavement; remaining to be finished the work of deepening and concluding the dredging.

The law passed on Oct. 26th last authorises the expropriation of land necessary for the deepening of the channel as far as 100 metres. This is every day becoming more necessary, as the greater number of establishments on the banks of the Riachuelo cannot accommodate two vessels alongside each other at the same time without obstructing the passage, which causes additional expenses of transhipment, etc., besides being prejudicial to commerce, and discreditable to the works.

Property is daily attaining a greater value, and the delay in expropriating same will cause each day greater difficulties, besides costing more.

The formation of the outer port, with the excavation of the island which is at present being carried out, will greatly increase the facilities of arrivals and departures of vessels in the discharging of their cargoes, and will also serve as a station for our war vessels requiring repairs; but the chief desideratum is the erection of fiscal deposits alongside the wharves.

I beg to subscribe myself

Your obedient servant

Luis A. Huergo

The ordinary revenue being estimated at 131,663:100$ and the ordinary expenditure at 128,559:238$, there should be a surplus of 3,104:161$, adding to which the calculation excess of deposits over repayments, 2,000:000$, the available surplus should be 5,104:161$, but as the credits of table C amount to 20,183:620$, there should be a deficit of 15,079:458$.

CONVERSION OF THE INTERNAL FUNDED DEBT.

The conversion of the internal funded debt is not only a necessity imposed by our financial circumstances—but also an imperative duty.

. . . . . .

The conversion ought in the meantime to include only the 6 o/o bonds of the funded internal debt (currency). These afford the primordial condition of conversion, as for a long time they have kept above par. Their sum is 335,397:100$, of which 320,413:100$ belongs to holders resident in Rio, and 14,984:000$ to holders in the provinces. They are held as follows:—

1st Class

Caixa da Amortizaçao	1,608:300
Societies, companies etc	18,652:300
Banks	7,376:300
...onts-pios and pious houses	18,371:200
Tertiary orders and brotherhoods	28,462:100
Minors, insane and prodigals	31,810:200
With lien, inalienable, and dotal	19,351:600

2nd Class

Sundry persons	209,919:100

It is presumable, if not certain, that the 1st class, holding 125,478:000$, would almost all accept conversion. In the case of some it would be imposed by their condition of existence, and as to the rest by their reason for investing their money in the public debt—its safety and credit.

The same reasons would actuate equally strongly upon the minds of many of the second class, such as widows and women generally and retired capitalists.

These reasons, whose nature renders them weighty, coincide with a general reason that speaks to all holders, whatever their personal situation and their motives—the advantage to all of the interest of the new bonds being a little over the current interest in the market, as, for example if the real interest is 4½ o/o and the interest of the new bonds be reduced to 5 o/o.

I beg your enlightened attention to this important matter. It seems to me that it would be wise on your part to empower the Government to convert the 6 o/o bonds of the internal funded debt into new bonds, at par of the old, at such a reduced rate of interest as the circumstances of the market may indicate.

THE CURRENCY

The report of last year informed you that the government notes in circulation were 188,041:087$. On the 31st of March 1884 they had fallen to 187,936:661$, 104:426$ having been discounted from various notes.

At the date of the last balances the bank notes in circulation amounted to 21,688:300$, viz:—

Bank of Brazil	20,405:300$
Do Bahia	1,079:575$
Do Maranham	183:925$

Everyone is aware that one of the measures most necessary to our economic life is the replacement of the paper money by coin, but this change would impose on us sacrifices that our financial circumstances will not at present admit of, so that we must remain some years longer under the rule of paper money.

As, then, it is impossible for us to return at once to metallic currency, what ought we to do?

We should do what simple good sense counsels us for improvement of our circulating medium as much as its nature and the laws governing it permit.

(Eight paragraphs follow on the uses and abuses of paper money.)

Is the quantity of paper money in circulation superabundant, or is it insufficient to effect the service of exchanges?

It is not difficult to show that superabundance is the case.

Economic science affords sure principles for decision of the question. "Certain symptoms, there are, by which to ascertain the limit that the issue should not transpass, and these indications are as certain as those which the barometer or the lead affords to the pilot," says a distinguished writer. These symptoms are: 1st. the premium on gold; 2nd, the rise of exchange; 3d the existence of two prices. All three are occurring among us.

It is notorious that during many years, and especially during the last ten, the ottava of gold has gone up in price. The value of the 20$ gold coins has varied between 238068 and 258714, and the same premium prevails in regard to bars of gold also.

The relations of exchange are no less clear and positive. Since 1878 exchange on London has varied with some regularity between 21 and 22d, average 22d. per $, which corresponds to a difference of 22 2/9 to 14 22/27 o/o against us.

We have also two prices among us, one in gold, the other in paper—a fact having official sanction.

All this means that our paper money is depreciated.

The depreciation cannot be explained by weakening of the credit of the State. Such an explanation is completely excluded by the quotations of the internal and foreign debts. The depreciation can therefore arise from nothing else but the superabundance of the paper money in its relations with the needs of social transactions, and the proper remedy is that authorized by the law of September 1845, art. 2 viz: to retire from circulation the quantity of paper money required to raise the value to par of gold.

DEBT.

Including the 187,936:661$ of paper money, 46,548,500$ of treasury bills and 3,093,958$ of Emancipation Fund, the debt amounts to 875,441845:8, against 840,078.072$ at the same time of 1873, the increase arising from the £4,000,000 loan of 1883.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our Own Correspondent.)

A PALL-MALL BUDGET.

April 25, 1884.

The system of interviewing now practised by the Pall-Mall Gazette is a decided feature in the London press of the day, and renders us intimate with many questions and opinions which are not found in the dull columns of mere news in the ordinary papers. For example, read those revelations of a great assurance company:—

"Yes, Sir, the largest insurance company in the world," said Mr. Thomas Dowey, as he adjusted himself in his chair, and commenced an interesting conversation with the representative of the Pall-Mall Gazette the other day, at the palatial offices of the Prudential Assurance Association. "The largest in the world, bar the Mutual of New York, which heads us still for a time, and only for a time. At this moment we have six million men, women and children insured in this office. Our annual income is two and a half millions sterling, this enormous sum exceeding the revenue of half the minor States of Europe. Our present funds amount to four millions sterling, and we are now engaged in a neck-and-neck race with the Scottish Widows' Fund as to who will first reach a ten millions reserve. This revenue is collected weekly by an army of eight thousand agents, scattered over the length and breadth of Great Britain. The average payment per head is 8s. 8d. per annum, or twopence a week, in return for which we have an average a death of £11 sterling. Every year we are now paying close upon a million sterling in claims, and we have, besides, a million sterling to invest. Roughly speaking, therefore, we pay away £3,200 every day to policy-holders, and invest a similar amount. Our investments are chiefly in municipal loans and ground rents. We do not invest in any foreign stock; nor, except as a last resource, do we go into Consols. The average of our investments is not much more than about four per cent. all round. We are very large holders of ground rents, but we have very little fear that Mr Henry George will be able materially to reduce the value of that security. We buy up ground-rents almost every week, especially in London, and we have very little objection to Mr. Brondhurst's Leasehold Bill, although we should prefer to see a compromise between that and the Scotch feu system. We are perfectly sure, however, that whatever change may be sanctioned by the Legislature, no change will be made in the tenure of land that will not be accompanied by full compensation for existing vested interests. We have also gone of late into debenture stock of the northern railways, but we have avoided the southern lines. The Midland recently issued debenture stock direct, so as to avoid costly transfer, a mode of issue which we much prefer, as it is far more convenient than that ordinarily pursued."

"Our policies being so numerous there is nothing that can happen to the nation which does not affect us. Every storm that bursts upon our coasts involves us in certain loss. Every battle that is fought within or without the limits of our empire entails charges upon our exchequer. The Zulu war cost us £88, the Afghan war £73, the Transvaal £53, the Egyptian war £334, and how much the war in the Soudan will cost us we have not yet had an opportunity of ascertaining. Colliery explosions involve heavy demands upon our funds. The loss of the Princess Alice cost us £622; the capsizing of the Atalanta, £395; the disaster on the Clyde, £257; while the catastrophe at the Victoria Hall, Sunderland, cost us £246. These are only small amounts, it is true, but they indicate the wide spread business that we do.

"Our experience of the people of England and Scotland, although necessarily limited to one aspect of their character, is very minute, and it works out some very curious results. We find, for example, that the whole of the area peopled by a population of Celtic origin such as Cornwall, Wales, and the extreme North of Scotland, is that which is the most characterized by fraud on the part of the insurers. We do very little business in Ireland, although we have a good agency in Belfast, as good as any in the large towns of England; but Belfast can hardly be regarded as a typical Irish town. Lancashire stands at the head of the country so far as insurance is concerned. The operatives there almost all insure. Five out of six are either in our association or some friendly society or club. It is noteworthy that the population that insures the most has the highest death-rate, especially in all cases arising from weakness of the lungs. In the country districts consumption is rare. In Lancashire and in Sheffield the proportion of deaths from diseases of the chest form by far the largest proportion of those with which we have to deal.

Another interviewer gives the following amusing and even libellous sketch of the great Scientist John Tyndall fresh from the lips of the candid John Ruskin. He says:—

"Another favourite topic of Mr. Ruskin's is the shortcomings of our men of science. On this he descanted with great vehemence. "The majority of them, said he, have no soul for anything beyond dynamics, the laws of chemistry, and the like. They cannot appreciate the beauties of nature, and they regard the imaginative man who can feel the poetry of life—as a donkey regards his rider; as an objectionable person whom he must throw off if he possibly can. Such a man is Tyndall. The real scientific man is one who can embrace not only the laws that be, but one who can feel to the full the beauty and truth of all that nature has to show, as the Creator made them. Such a man was Von Humboldt, such a man was Linnæus, such a man was Sir Isaac Newton. As regards my opinion of Tyndall, I admire his splendid courage—(I am a dreadful physical coward myself; I enjoy my life too much ever to risk the losing of it)—and his schoolboy love of adventure; he has a real and intense interest in the subjects which he takes up; naive to a degree—incurably so; but he has never felt himself to be a sinner against science in the least because of his all-overwhelming vanity. His conduct to James Forbes respecting the Glacier Theory was the outcome of the schoolboy feeling when he sees the Alps for the first time; 'Good Gracious! no one ever saw this before; and I can tell the world all about it as no one ever did before!' And here is the nuisance of a man who has told the world what is not true, and so, hoping with his whole soul that Forbes is wrong, and hoping and expecting that he is right, he does all he can to get Forbes out of the way and to get people to believe in his theory. Why he has set back the Glacier Theory twenty years and more! But before long people will find that this theory was all decided before this conceited, careless schoolboy was born. And that is why I always attack him, and shall continue to do so until I die. The whole attitude of the scientific world at present is; 'We shall discover everything entirely afresh, no matter who discovered it before—especially James Forbes; we shall believe nothing that Forbes has said if we possibly can help it, and we will believe anything that he has not said if we possibly can;' and as he has said the exact truth in that matter the result has been extremely unfortunate for science in general!"

Another most interesting interview was with Lars Olsen Smith, the ex-Brandy King in Sweden. He made formerly a yearly income of £50,000 from the sale of spirits, and has singly fought and conquered the municipal monopolists of Gothenburg. Through his energy the famous Gothenburg system once recommended for imitation to the English people is on the eve of dissolution. Mr. Smith was suffering from much "searching of heart" on reflecting on the misery he had occasioned by supplying his fellow-creatures with alcoholic liquors. He now devotes his time, money and experience to the diminution of the evil. Studying the question, he discovered that the chief cause of death through alcoholism was not the consumption of alcohol but of the fusel oil it contained. In Sweden they make spirits from potatoes, and in that country the skins of the potatoes are very thick, and it is in the skins where the amyl alcohol or fusel oil is contained. The impurity in potato spirit is as much as 6 per cent., whilst in whiskey, made from grain, it is only 2 per cent. Brandy made in France, purely from the grape contains no amyl alcohol. Mr. Smith thus explains poison in drink. He says—

"The scientific people learn that amyl alcohol is an oil which will not dissolve in water. It is only soluble in ethyl alcohol, and when it is taken into the system it does not become absorbed by the body, but accumulates without incorporating itself into the system, until at last it reaches the brain; then it produces delirium tremens. When once the system is laden with this poison the victim is compelled to drink more and still more spirit, for only by alcohol can the fusel oil be dissolved. Then, again, amyl alcohol boils only at 132 deg. taking 100 deg. as the boiling point of water, whereas pure alcohol will boil at 68 deg. The heat of the lungs is therefore insufficient to evaporate the fusel oil, and consequently it is very difficult to get rid of it. In order more accurately to understand the exact operation of the various alcohols on the system, I provided funds for scientific researches conducted by eminent scientists at Paris, of which you may have seen a notice, dealing with the alcoholization of pigs. These experiments were conducted at my expense to ascertain the real truth on these matters."

At a cost of £200,000 Mr. Smith erected seven rectifying factories in Sweden, and it was in selling the comparatively harmless intoxicants made from pure or rectified spirits he came into conflict with the Gothenburg monopoly. He vanquished it, and the diminished sale of impure spirits has reduced the number of deaths from alcoholism in Stockholm from 600 yearly to 100.

PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 24th.

It was with something akin to a panic that the Encyclical onslaught against Free Masonry has been received by those who have been the most fervent admirers of the tact, lucidity and moderation of Leo XIII., in the difficult position made for his theocratic ideas of government in this realistic age, when thought, writing, speech and meeting are so free. To attribute to those "Satanic workmen" the free masons, the authorship of the equalising or leveling tendencies of the times, is on the part of His Holiness to ignore what are really the acting forces, and where originate the currents of that influence which impels modern society and peoples.

There was a time when free masonry played a political role. That was the epoch when freedom of action and of speech did not exist, and then the lodges became a refuge for the advocates of such liberties. To-day nothing is concealed; for publicity, as for the 'camp-fire,' nothing is sacred. All is concocted in the open day. Socialistic, revolutionary, anarchic, and dynamitic advocates have no greater unrelenting opponents, than the free masons. Only last week these stormy petrels of our civilization were denounced by the Masonic lodge of the Saone-et-Loire, in scathing and vigorous terms; so much so, that Leo XIII himself might have signed that anathema. And the revolutionists who have an hereditary, a Shylock hate against the masons, are also the most uncompromising foes of every church and every creed.

His Holiness in signalling out freemasonry as the disturbing agent of the evolutions of Society, unconsciously imparts to it an importance to which it can lay no claim. Its history since its birth, really about 150 years ago, proves its cosmopolitan, non-political, and non-sectarian character. The late Pope Pius IX was, when simply 'young Mastai,' a brother of the mystic tie. Monarchs, princes, dignitaries of the church even, did not disdain to tie on their masonic aprons. The royal families of England, Prussia, and the Netherlands have ever contributed members to the craft. Louis XVI., Louis XVIII., Charles IX., the Napoleons I and III., Louis Philippe I., Leopold I of Belgium, and Abd-el-Kader, were free and accepted masons. And the unexclusive character of masonry may be judged from the following samples of membership:—Prince Charles Edward Stuart—who founded a lodge at Arras; Washington, Berryer, Franklin, the Lafayettes, Laplace, Voltaire, Gambetta Jules Ferry, the Abbe Sieges, Paul Jones, Hoche, Nelson, Meyerbeer, Tom Paine, Humboldt, Mirabeau, Dr. Guillotine who did not invent, but recommended the adoption of that instrument, Garibaldi, Jules Favre, Marshal Canrobert, Danton, Massena, Bernadotte, Marshal Saxe etc. Such personages represent opinions as diverse as their social standing.

Fauverty said, free masonary was a universal religion; it would be more accurate to describe it, a cosmopolitan club where, right good fellows meet for criminal ends, supplemented by charitable works. Songs that would delight Göthe or Burns, stories, and occasionally discussion of social questions, replace cards and billiards. Free masonry whether philosophical or philanthropic, open or secret, has penetrated into all countries of the globe with the spirit of progress and liberty of the eighteenth century. It is said to have for aim, the moral and material amelioration of man: for principles, the laws of human progress; for ideas, toleration, fraternity, and liberty without distinction of religious faiths, political creeds, nationalities or social distinctions. It is supposed to be the friend of rich and poor, only exacting that they be virtuous.

The Grand Orient which is the Grand Lodge of France, has had a chequered career. Its foundation was laid in 1725, by Lord Derwentwater; but the first lodge in France, and which was at the same time the first on the Continent, was organized at Dunkirk in 1721 by the same nobleman. Indeed free masonry is an essentially English institution, and was propagated throughout the world by the British nobility. The Grand Orient excluded no one in dates on account of his creed, so that Helvetius, the Materialist, and Lalande, the Atheist, could accept the formulas. Imitating Plato, the Divinity was called the "Grand Architect," leaving to each, to interpret that appellation, following his church or his philosophy. The Grand Orient is now essentially democratic, and since a score of years, secular; that is to say, it does not exact belief in a Personal God as a test of membership.

The Council of the Grand Orient, consists of 50 members; it connects with 315 lodges. There are about 10,000 free masonic lodges in the world, possessing ten millions of members. There are very few rites and ceremonies in the French lodges, such being considered infantile, and fewer grades. There are no more legends. The story of Adam and Eve being the first—impossible to go further back—masons, and the garden of Eden the first lodge: of Noah being the founder, after the Deluge, then Moses, Zoroaster, Isis, Ceres, Proserpine, Bacchus, etc., are, for intelligent masons, nursery tales. In the same category may be placed Hiram, the architect of Solomon's temple. Hiram was not an architect at all, but a metal worker, whose services only came into play when the building was erected. All these myths are only destined to heighten the luster of the order, by an illustrious genealogy or allegories, and to feed the imagination while keeping warm the enthusiasm of apprentices.

Similarly with secrets and signs. There were no secret societies in ancient times, and but very little brotherhood, since travelling did not exist. As for the secrets, he who runs may read them in the official organs of the craft, where the rules and regulations of the lodges, their days of meeting, their places of dining, the programme of all their business is duly set forth. It is not by peculiar shakes of the hand, rubbing of the nose, scratching of the head, and treading on the feet, that a mason on tramp gains admission into a French lodge, or obtains help. He must produce credentials. Further; during the reign of Louis XV. women were admitted to be masons, and the Duchesse de Bourbon was a Grand "Mistress."

As for sashes, aprons, gloves, jewelry &c. Such pomp and circumstance count for little here; they are regarded as the out-come of human vanity, ranked with the rattle which pleases the child, or the plaything that delights the youth. Masonry appears to have really originated from the break-up of the building guilds in Italy during the Middle Ages. Then the workmen wandered over Europe seeking employment; they had signs to recognise one another as fellow craftsmen, and so claiming, if required, succour. The clergy utilized these wandering artizans to erect churches, and even joined their fraternal corporations, the better to aid their needs. Such is the history of Strasbourg Cathedral. The word "mason," is derived from "hammer" or "a wall;" and "Tiler," the Cerberus, or lictor functionary, comes from the French "tailleur" de pierre, or stone cutter.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Havas's cablegram, in another column, about the Egyptian Conference has too much of a Gallic smack to be taken without a big grain of salt. If Havas lives till the red-coats evacuate Egypt, he will reach an age compared with which that of all the Patriarchs rolled into one was mere babyhood.

The Nord America did not make quite such a quick run from Europe this time; nevertheless, she brings European dates to the 13th inst: His Holiness the Pope is reported to be seriously unwell. The Empress of Germany is reported to be anxious to join the Roman Catholic Church. The Freemasons (of whose history Our Own Correspondent in Paris gives a very interesting sketch in another column) are about to publish an answer to the Pope's recent Encyclical. Italy is about wasting more money on more huge ironclads. Italian stocks have risen greatly on the Paris Bourse. Chinese Gordon had four Soudanese shot for treason. Osman Digna declared that he would murder all the Egyptian officers in Assouan if they did not join him within ten days. The Egyptian Government offered £5,000 to any one who would save Gordon. Serious row near Nice between French and Italians. It was said that British troops could not safely (for their health) be sent from England to save Gordon till October next. Poor Gordon! Cholera has broken out in Richmond Barracks Dublin, among some soldiers recently returned from Egypt. The Fenian Deasy died in prison.

The rain on Tuesday night left the streets yesterday as slippery as an eel or an Old Bailey lawyer. It was like walking on ice, and there were many "spills". To make matters worse, there was an unusual quantity of orange peel on the footways.

The scene in the Colon Theatre on Tuesday night was the talk of the whole town yesterday. The demonstration, we hear, was organised by a lot of "jovenes", but the public took it up, showing how deep is the dissatisfaction at Ferrari's high prices when he has the theatre on such cheap terms. The opera was Faust, with Madlle de Vere as the heroine and the second tenor, Sr. Figner, as Faust. The former, though a "soprano lijera," would, according to those who best know her great talents, have got through the opera with credit to herself and pleasure to the public, if she had only had a chance; but the poor lady was so terrified by the yelling, whistling and stamping, that when the noise was at its height she left the stage and fainted behind the scenes. She behaved very pluckily, as, in the window scene she had to be supported from behind, so great was her distress and agitation; although the public, on more than one occasion, tried to show her that the manifestation was not against her, but against Ferrari, the empresario. Figner, the tenor, bore his share of the blame like a man, and did all he could to reassure poor Marguerite. The curtain had to be let down when the fifth act had barely commenced, and it did not rise again. The whole thing was disgraceful; the outrageously high prices are the cause of it all. If the prices were "en rapport" with the very low rent Ferrari pays for the theatre, the public would be more indulgent. The painful demonstration on Tuesday night was a very natural public protest.

The general impression in musical circles is that Ferrari will have to shut up shop until Madlle Theodorini gets well; either that, or get Tamagno to sing a few solos every second night in place of an opera. It is a curious coincidence that three Ts are the backbone of the opera company this year—Theodorini, Tamagno, and Tamburini. If Tamagno were to get a stiff cold in his head now, the "fiasco" would be complete.

Lieutenant Bove is expected back from Tierra del Fuego next month.

The papers make a fresh very serious charge against some members of the Consejo Deliberante, viz that of drawing up and publishing on their own hook, as if officially sanctioned by the Council, a list of the 50 largest rate payers in each parish who are to form the "mesas" at the Municipal elections. To add to the scandal, the names selected are those of notoriously poor devils who live on sueldo salaries, and never paid a cent of direct taxes in their lives. The Town Councillors, or some of them, are evidently bent on trying how much more outrage the public will stand quietly.

Senator Barros laid a new railway Bill before Congress yesterday, for a line from Villa Mercedes to Tinogasta, in Catamarca, passing through Tama, Podquia, Villa Argentina and Famatina.

Dr. Pastore died yesterday. He was at one time Surgeon-General for the red-shirts of Garibaldi, and there was a large gathering of Italians at the wake of the remains last night.

Madame Theodorini, the prima donna at the Colon will not be able to sing for a month yet. Measles is a most dangerous and treacherous disease in adults; and the talented lady is also suffering from bronchitis. Dr. Pirovano is attending her.

Roast 'Bear' was the favourite dish on 'Change yesterday, as the Bulls were again victorious in the month's battle. There was also a good deal of roast 'lamb,' as numerous outsiders have been caught in this month.

General Sarmiento has brought from Mendoza a whole waggon full of the most luscious grapes grown there. A goodly portion of them disappeared on the journey down; nevertheless the remainder of these splendid grapes will be on sale to-day in all the principal restaurants and 'confiterias'.

We call attention to the advertizement in another column of articles lost at the recent Bachelors' Ball and as yet unclaimed—a lace handkerchief, a bracelet and a pin.

The gamblers of old Europe, and their name is Legion, are trembling in their boots at the prospect of Monte Carlo being wiped out like Homburg and Baden-Baden. The latest advices from that sink of iniquity say—"Monte Carlo is showing evident signs of uneasiness. The Crown Prince has been visiting Berlin and Paris, and at Rome the representative of Monaco is having repeated interviews with Cardinal Jacobini. Meanwhile the roll of tragedies increases. A ruined gambler, named Albert Strigheli, has shot himself at San Remo; while at Pont Magnan, near Nice, a German lady, an habitual frequenter of Monte Carlo, has been found senseless and bleeding on her bed, with her infant lying dead by her side. The lady has recovered. It is believed that after losing in all 250,000f. at Monte Carlo, she opened a vein in order to bleed herself to death, and falling on her child involuntarily suffocated it. Some mystery, however, hangs over the affair, and the usual attempts are being made to hush up anything which deepens the stigma on Monte Carlo. A local newspaper remarks:—Fifty suicides and 12,000,000f. lost—such is the usual yearly balance-sheet of this shameful enterprise, which Europe and France, in particular, wrongly tolerate, but of which we are sure they will speedily rid themselves."

"My dear," said an affectionate husband, "I'm surprised that you will consent to the degradation of wearing another woman's hair on your head." "Is that any worse than you wearing another sheep's wool on your back?" retorted the equally affectionate wife.

SHEEP DIP
NICOTINE
From the finest selected Virginia Tobacco Leaf.

FREE FROM POISON

THIS EXCELS ALL OTHER SHEEP DIPS.
It is uniform in strength, evenly dissolved, free from lumps.
After a trial of ALL the New Dips, the highest testimony declares NICOTINE to be the best for both Sheep and Wool.

THIS EXCELS ALL OTHER NICOTINE.
No other is absolutely pure.
Being prepared solely for Sheep Dip, the other Natural Ingredients in it are only such as assist in the cure.
It is the only Dip that contains the highest possible percentage of Nicotine.

ITS EFFECTS ARE MARVELLOUS.
It Increases the Weight of Wool.
It Improves the Quality of the Wool.
It Strengthens the Sheep and Increases their Vigour and Size.
It will Prevent and Eradicate Scab and other Skin Diseases.
It Cures Internal Diseases.

IT IS THE MOST ECONOMICAL.
It is the Cheapest in proportion to its strength.
It cures from 100 to 200 per cent more Sheep than any other Dip for the same outlay.
It has given 400 per cent profit on its cost, in Wool alone.

DIRECTIONS.—Put 1 Gallon to from 150 to 200 Gallons of Water. It can be used with Cold or Hot Water, but Warm Water makes all cures more effective.

River Plate Testimony

"We have bought the "X L" Sheep Dip (Nicotine) in large quantities, and have no hesitation in saying that of all Sheep Dips Nicotine has proved the most necessary and effective for cure. It has saved our Sheep and increased our Wool far beyond any other Dip. Indeed, we have not failed to use it for years, and dare not be without it."

(Twenty Years' Experience.)—"No Sheep Dip is so economical nor gives so little trouble nor has any other in my long experience proved so effective."

"Tobacco Extract has been used on my Sheep farm for years, and always with success. Sheep farm for years, and always with success. The Wool is heavier per fleece and better in quality by its use, and the Sheep are healthier and stronger, and fetch better prices than they would if we had not used it. A pure and reliable Extract (such as the "X L" brand) appears to be just what is wanted."

"Nicotine is undoubtedly the best Sheep Dip for Scab. We have used it freely and D. L. ly for several years, and with great regu. The "X L" brand is better mixed success. ...th in strength than any other and more unif... seen or used," that we have either ...

Australian Testimony.

From a Farm with 80,000 Sheep. Fifteen Years' Experience. "Nothing surpasses Tobacco Extract. We grow our own Tobacco to get it pure, and to be certain of having it at hand when we want it. But a reliable Extract (such as the "X L" brand) would be a saving of much trouble, anxiety, and expense."

Cape Report.

"We have formerly sold the Glycerine, or M'Dougall's Dip, but as the "X L" Tobacco Extract appears to be both cheaper and better, we are now selling it in preference."

READ THE ANALYSIS—
Liverpool, 9th November 1882.

"I hereby certify that I have examined samples of the "X L" Nicotine Sheep Dip" sent me, and find it to contain:—

Nicotine.....	9·30 o/o
Extractive and other Organic Matter.....	36·56 o/o
Salts of Lime, Potass...	19·92 o/o
Water.....	34·22 o/o
	100·00 o/o

"This Sheep Dip has evidently been prepared from Tobacco of good quality, as is shown by the large proportion of Nicotine and the character of the extractive matters. It mixes readily with water, and appears to me to be a preparation of even reliable character, well suited in every way for use as a good Sheep Dip."

Cedulas A	100⅜
Cedulas E	89½
Cedulas F	85½
National Bank Shares....	140
Scrip	58

The bulls bore down on the unfortunate bears this morning with horse, foot and artillery; the bears were destroyed on all sides, and the shares were buoyantly carried to 149. This has been the most crushing defeat of the month, and the late flanking movement of the ex-bulls has been completely outflanked. The phantom of the liquidation next Saturday is rising and heavy differences will probably have to be met after the intermittent fever of the month's speculation.

At an early hour it was rumored that the bulls had secured about one million dollars to take up the shares, the delivery of which is threatened by the new bears. Hundred thousands have been secured in various quarters on shares at 130-131½, but the sudden turn in the speculation this morning points to some greater cause for a rise than that of money secured on the stock. A belief is gaining ground that many have sold large amounts of shares short. But the market has suffered from such rigid sharps of late that none can foresee the position of the market at the end of the month; the present current is bearing the stock aloft and with such a force that it is expected to hold on till settlement day.

About 3,600 shares were sold for Saturday; the excitement at the ring was feverish, and many well-known operators bought heavily. The market opened at 148 and went up steadily to 149, at which rate it closed from as a rocket. Immediately after the close of official hours a ring was formed round a leading broker and several hundred shares were sold at 149½. A few hundred were sold this morning for the end of June at 150⅜. Large operations are being passed to next month at 81½ per share, which is cheap with the stock valued at 130.

Bank Scrip looks healthier, and holders look more cheerful. Two hundred Certificates were sold this morning at 59 for cash and 59½ for Saturday. There were many more buyers at these rates, but holders would not let go. There is a great turn in the market; all the weakness of the last few days has disappeared as if by magic, and both Scrip and [illegible] paid-up stock look upwards.

Even Cedulas looked better to-day and there was much more activity at the ring than usual. New Cedulas put in an appearance, and 40,000 Series F changed hands for cash; rates opened at 85½ and closed at 86⅜; 62,500 were sold for Saturday at 86½-86. A few thousand Series A changed hands for cash at 100⅜, and E at 89½; 20,000 E were sold for the end of the month at 89⅜. There was a slight spirt in Cedulas during official hours, but as seen by the quotations the market is yet very weak, and speculation as yet is very embryonic. The liquidation will be a paltry business.

The money market rules very easy. The Government has taken several hundred thousand dollars at 6½ o/o. All the private and official banks have vast large amounts, and very large sums are spoken of in connection with loans on stocks. All the so-called "caudillos" have been removed, and the easy condition of the market and the richness of capital around point to a further drop in the rates. In spite of the large amounts taken up these last two days the tendency is one of further ease. The Montevidean money market, meantime, forms a striking contrast; there the market is stringent in the extreme. Discounts are here at 6½, and even lower; in the Mount the best bills are quoted at 11 and 12 per cent. Whilst the Buenos Aires banks are letting out all sail the Montevidean ones are restricting discounts and increasing their reserves. The situation of both markets is as serves. The situation of both markets is as distant as the poles, although the Plate only divides them.

The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—

Cedulas—
For cash A 1,400 at 100⅝
For cash E 4,100 at 89½
For June 30th E 20,000 at 89⅝
For cash F 39,000 at 85½-½-85-½
For May 31st F 62,500 at 86½-85
Sales, 127,000

National Bank Shares—
For May 31st 2,350 at 143-½-½-⅝-½-½-149
For June 30th 350 at 150-½
Sales, 2,700

National Bank Certificates, 30 o/o paid—
For cash 100 at 59
For May 31st 100 at 59½
Sales, 200

The exchange market shews no alteration. Bills are scarce, and small operations only are now and then reported at the current rates. Francs are very scarce.

Six leagues of land in the great district of Lincoln have been sold lately at the rate of $272,000 $m/n per league. Seller Mr. Cabral; buyer Mr. Luro.

About ten thousand strobes of wool entered the South Plaza this morning. Strange to say, wool continues to arrive in bullock carts; this is unusual at this time of the year. Wool is unusually late in arriving from the distant districts during June. Prices in the market keep steady and look upward.

A colleague announces that telegrams have arrived from London announcing a big fall in the launching of Argentine loans. Nobody on 'Change knew of the receipt of telegrams of this nature.

The Gaudiana arrived in Rio yesterday; she is booked for New York on the 5th prox. Passengers per R.M.S. Tamar from this port can catch her in Rio and go on to Europe via New York. The steamers will stop ten days in New York.

Messrs. Iturbide & Co. have named Messrs. Esquiel, Ramos Mejia and V. Casares members of the Board of management of their great principality in the Province of Sta. Fé.

Several operations are reported in the maize market at 42½ c/s, without bag, for exportation to Europe. The arrivals of grain in the port are very heavy.

Captain Hough of the fine steamer Parisitz was welcomed on 'Change to-day. This is the popular captain's first visit to the Plate, and he is charmed with the country and its progress. The Parana he says is the finest river in the world.

The Bahia Blanca auction did not come off to-day, as all the lots were withdrawn.

Some operations in exchange on Montevideo were reported to-day at 2½; the rates are 2½-2. Something done in sterling at 47½.

Letters received by the mail announce the safe arrival of Mr. M. Forrester in Liverpool in good health after an excellent sea-voyage. He was leaving immediately for the U. States where he will remain a month.

One thousand cwt. Heads of the National Bank were sold to-day at afternoon's at 60 and 60½. The market closed with very strong buyers of the scrip at 60½; the market looks upwards but holders refuse to sell any more at these rates. One party has sold out all his certificates—he sold the bulk to-day.

The arrivals of wool in the Plaza Once to-day were small, and little business was transacted.

The crushing defeat of the bears this morning was followed by a still more disastrous contest during afternoons. The bulls entered with full forces and swept everything before them. The market opened at 149½ and was successfully bulled to 150½, when a sudden spurt took the bears, the bulls and the whole market by surprise; strong buyers entered, the liquidation parlor and bought 10,000 stock went up to 151½, when the fights were put out and the bears were nowhere. Four thousand shares must have been sold during

A Derangement of the Liver.

THE CAUSE OF DISEASE IN THE STOMACH, KIDNEYS, AND Nervous System.

Below will be found a brief summary of a Lecture upon the Liver, delivered before the Eclectic College of Medicine, by

Dr. J. Haydock

The Liver has been known as the great blood-maker and blood-purifier of the circulation. From its size and spongy structure, it plays a most important part in the animal economy, as regards assimilation and nutrition. Food taken in the mouth and acted upon by the digestive organs of the stomach is converted into Glucose and Peptone, and in these forms enters the Portal vein. Here, by the action of the liver, these substances are converted into a form of sugar and pass out of the liver by a large vein, called the Hepatic vain, into the great circulation. The new material now formed serves two purposes: viz: the maintenance of heat in the body and assisting in the cell growth of the system.

Dr. Murchison says "The co-position of bile and its secretion is very complex. It is constantly being secreted by the liver, and, increasing suddenly before eating, gradually decreases as soon as the appetite is satisfied and feeding ceases." Now, if this most important organ of the body becomes torpid, or the passage of bile interfered with, emaciation and disease ensue. I note eight marked peculiarities that now occur, and which we all know off:—

Our new little colleague La Mañana is a very readable paper, briskly edited. Most of it is on the lines of Public Opinion, with the principal items from all the other papers, and spicy comments thereon. There is a lot of condensed news of all kinds in this small paper, and we wish it all the success it deserves.

Poor Doctor Pardo's life is a purgatory to him since he won the 50,000 Nats prize on Monday last. All the charitable Societies, beggars, and begging impostors in town are down on him like locusts. The worthy and lucky doctor has already given a considerable sum to the poor, a good amount to each of the charitable institutions, nothing to the impostors, and 100 Nats to each of the clerks in the National Board of Health Department, of which he is the head.

Fortune smiled also on Monday on Mr. Pereira, a printer in Mr. Klingelfuss's office, who fobbed 10,000 Nats in the Mendoza Lottery. Like Dr Pardo, he has lots of applicants for favours, but, as he is not a man of fortune like the doctor, we recommend him not to give even one of them as much as would pay a tramway fare.

The only market in town now where fair meat (there is no such thing as prime meat ever seen now in the city) can be had is the Model Market in Plaza Lorea. The "puesteros" have all, or nearly all, gone to it, driven from the old markets by the outrageous addition of imposts laid on them by the too famous "Consejo Deliberante." All the rich classes now send their servants to buy in the Model Market, and those with less cash ought to do likewise, as prices are lower there.

Between Tuesday at 6 p.m. and yesterday at 1 p.m. there was a difference of 7 minutes in the Cabildo clock time. Not only this, but at 1 p.m the dial facing the Plaza Victoria marked 1 p.m. that facing Calle San Martin three minutes past 1, and that facing Calle Bolivar 8 minutes past 1. What is the real time we should like to know? The worst of it is that the different railway companies mark their hours for departing trains by the Cabildo time.

A special office ought to be opened at the Immigration Office for foreign correspondence. Since the 1st of this month 58 European letters, asking for information, etc., have been received there and have been duly answered. All letters have first to be translated, which augments the work.

A good number of families left yesterday for the General Roca Colony on the Rio Negro. In answer to some letters received, we can state that, so far as possible, only 'families' are sent there. We will give by-and-by some details about this colony.

There is a matter of importance at present in the hands of the police that possesses at the same time some ludicrous features. Some young mashers have made it a practice lately to turn up during the small hours of the morning at any of the fashionable restaurants. They call for the most costly wines and recherché dishes; they in fact almost eat the house up, and then comes the sequel. One by one our young friends drop off until one alone remains, who, thinks mine host, will discharge the bill. Not a bit of it. The young spark, usually the fellow of the least shame and most eloquence (or brass) in the company, assumes an aspect of perfect contrition and breaks the extent of his poverty to the unsuspecting host. The grand finale takes place in the police. Verily our rising youths are rum customers.

The Comisaria of the Fifth Section is now a far better "Zoo" for its size than the one-horse concern in Palermo Park. There are; one ostrich, a ram, a caf, a peacock and a barn door fowl—all found straying in the streets—in that police office, waiting for the owners.

Another royal ruction was expected at the Consejo Deliberante last night, but as we go to press and to bed earlier than our colleagues, we can give no particulars till to-morrow.

Rubenstein, the great pianist, has ruined himself by play, and has taken to playing (the piano) again to recoup.

DR. DON JUAN CARLOS GOMEZ.

25TH OF MAY, 1884.

"There is a divinity which shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we will."

Happy destiny, Dr. Gomez, that released you on this day of all others. It is our desire, amongst the universal tribute of affection and respect to the memory of this distinguished jurisconsult, to record with admiration the unflinching ardour with which he threw himself into the contest with the terrible plague which desolated the city thirteen years ago. Dr. Gomez was one of the most active members of the famous "Comision Popular."

Dr. Gomez, appreciated as a writer and speaker of great power, was a steadfast partisan of the re-union of the Spanish-American peoples inhabiting the shores of the Plate. To this idea he clung with a pertinacity to which the breadth of the interposed water-way was nothing, and which was undoubtedly the result of deep conviction. There have been other ideas of an opposite character, such as that with which Francis Solano Lopez was credited, viz., the formation of a mediterranean republic (or empire?) of Paraguay, Corrientes and Entre Rios. Of all these it may perhaps best be averred that since facts are stubborn things, therefore what has been, will be; nevertheless it may also be averred that of all, and different, political aspirations, that of Dr. Gomez was the most sympathetic. The expression of the noble features of Juan Carlos Gomez was not unlike that which characterised the late Emperor of the French; there was the same melancholy smile, as it were that of an amiable nature saddened by experience, which, to judge by the expression, can hardly have been constantly agreeable.

We believe that Dr. Gomez was widely appreciated and largely consulted by the foreign community of the Province of Santa Fe, a [illegible] whom his views will be much [illegible] who would make himself useful in his keep. Apply at the offi[illegible] H.
